resorts, is dying of consumption at his home, 297 Elizabeth street.
Frank Fagan is only forty-five years old. He was, in his paimy days, a tail, muscular fellow, and passably good looking.
He was a model "floor manager" at the old dance-hall dives, and a bouncer whose prowess fewcared to dispute.
While at "The "Allen's place, Fagan had a fight with the rest of the employees and had floored several of them when he was overpowered by superior forces and some one dropped a stone cuspidor on his head as he lay on the floor. He was dragged out and laid on the marble steps of the Bieceker Street Savings Bank next door. Allen, icaring arrest, had him removed, and he was nursed for three months, and brought back to health in some hidden corner of this big city.

The export trade alone of the Standard now amounts to more than $50,000,000 a year, and this is estimated at about twe-thirds of its total business. For the last seight years it has paid annual dividends of 12 per cent, but this represents tally a small amount of the profit which has been secured by those few who have had it in their power to manipulate the speculative market and absolutely control prices.

The present officers of the Standard on Trust are: John D. Rockefeller, President; Benjamin Brewster, Treasurer, and H. M. Hagler, Secretary. The Trustees are John D.
